ABSTRACT

The objectives of the research were to analyze problems of required quality of students and to develop the required quality of the students at Ban Sa-Ard Chareon School by using the principles of action research. The target population was 65 1st-6th grade students and participants consisting of teachers, members of school committee and parents of students. The research instruments were a questionnaire, an interview form and an observation form. The statistics used were mean and standard deviation. The research methodology consisted of two steps: a contextual study and require quality development of students.

The research finding indicated that the three highest rated areas of the required quality were discipline, sufficiency reliance, and public mind. The three projects of required quality development emphasized on discipline, sufficiency-reliance for the youth and youth volunteers. The finding revealed that most of the participants had better behavior after the development projects except for saving and public benefits.
