

TITLE : The Provision of I – San Folk Play Activities To Develop Social Skills of Early - Childhood

AUTHOR : Weerana phakilapang DEGREE: M.Ed.(Curriculum and Instruction)

ADVISORS : Assoc. Prof. Dr. Prapatsorn Preeiam Chairman

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Thatsanee Nakunsong Committee

RAJABHATMAHA SARAKHAM UNIVERSITY, 2015

ABSTRACT

I - san folk-game playing activities are important activities which will promote good social behaviors of children. This study aimed to compare early-childhood children's social skills between pre and post provision of I-san folk-game playing activities and aimed to compare early-childhood children's social skills between provision of I-san folk-game playing activities and provision of conventional activities.

The results of the study were as follows :

1. The early-childhood children who received provision of I - san folk-game playing activities showed social skills in each aspect after provision activities at a good level and showed gains in social skills in each aspect from before learning at the .01 level of significance.

2. The early-childhood children who received provision of I - san folk-game playing activities to be funny frighten and interest with I - san folk-game. The early-childhood are patience good leader good follower and responsible. The early-childhood playing activities happily.